

WRITERS WANTED

To be Ace Reporters for the Diocese of Orlando!

Faith News Online

Students Sharing Faith

www.orlandodiocese.org/faithnews

We invite students to be Ace Reporters and contribute to Faith News Online, a digital publication created by the Diocese of Orlando Office of Communications. Guided by a teacher who will serve as their mentor, students write about the people, places and events that are having an impact on their faith and education throughout the school year. To view the web publication, visit www.orlandodiocese.org/faithnews.

Benefits of the Ace Reporter program:

- Students gain valuable writing experience
- Students are challenged to learn more about their faith
- Students can showcase their gifts of writing
- Schools and parishes are portrayed in a positive way

Ace Reporter testimonial:

“I really wanted to grow in the Catholic community and try to do something to bring myself closer to God. I felt this really did that for me.”

— Avery, 8th grade student, Sacred Heart Catholic School, New Smyrna Beach

Training provided! A representative of the Office of Communications will visit your school to teach your Ace Reporters about the program, as well as how to write a news article, take photos and submit their work. We encourage the teacher who will serve as the mentor to these students be present during this training.

To learn more, please contact Linda Caldwell, writer/photographer, at lcaldwell@orlandodiocese.org or 407-246-4924.